The Happy Household.

COOKIES OF 1812. One pint of sugar, one teacupful of butter, four eggs, two table-poenfuls sweet milk, one teaspoonful of soda, one-half teaspoonful of nutineg, vanilla. Flour to roll out thin, -Mrs. E. Chapin. HARTFORD CREAM CAKES.

One pint of milk or water, three ounces of but-. ter, seven ounces of flour, five eggs. Put the butter in the milk and let it scald, then stir in the flour until it is smooth, and then add the eggs two at a time. Drop a spoonful at a time on a buttered tin, and bake in a quick oven. When cold out open a small place with a thin knife, or pair of seissors, and fill with cream made as follows: Beat two eggs with four spoonfuls of flour, and pour into one pint of boiling milk. Stir until it is quite thick and smooth and flavor with lemon or BEEF BALLS. Two pounds of the round of beef chopped fine; season with pepper, salt and onion chopped. Make into balls with flour, place in a frying-pan with a little water, and stew gently for two hours. DECORATIVE FANCIES.

Among pretty ornamental novelties are borns of plenty, once of straw, but now of exquisitely delinate silk, adorned with Watteau designs in water colors, such as the inevitable shepherd and shepberdess with their half a dozen meek sheep, the well-fed cupid with his ever-ready arrow, and the ever-smiling marquis and bashful peasant girl. Then there must be a frame-adorned water-color design upon which to hang up your horn of plenty, into which only billets doux must be put.

"Vine leaves," behind to slip combs and hairpins, must be made of shaded velvet very delicately cut, and have a bristol-board back with a gro-tesque design of farms and trees. "Pockets" of silk for large letters are embroidered, and have a painted design on white silk or satin and a lace top Editor's Chat.

CHANGING COINS. FRIENDS OF THE C. C.: I will endeavor to answer Lamont Hoagland's questions: 1. The stars were omitted from 10-cent piece in 1860; those of 1857 are also without stars. 2. Yes; the so-called bronze cents, also the nickel cents from 1859 to 1864. are common Indian-head cents. 3. The letters on the eagle cent of 1559 are not so large as on those of preceding years. 4. Yes, they have stopped makdates of the old-fashioned pennies are at a pre-mium; I will offer for exchange 65 varieties of foreign postage stamps for a silver 3-cent piece or half dime; 190 varieties for a cent prior to 1830; two half dimes for a cent of 1877; one foreign stamp for every four U.S. stamps; 50 varieties foreign star for an unused 4-cent stamp. - Harry Fox, Frankfort

FOR A GENTLEMAN'S AUTOGRAPH ALBUM. Life, my friend, is like the sea,

That changes in an hour, A day that may be bright to thee, Yet close with heavy shower.

There may be days of imppiness, Or years of darkest gloom, Or everlasting weariness, As life has lost its bloom.

But you, my friend, deserve a fate

th bright and free from pain, With health and wealth and a worthy mate To share your honest name May she be bonny, bright and pure,

With lovely golden hair, And deep blue eyes that will insure Her being good and fair. And may your joys be ocean deep.

Your sorrows like the foam, Your family perfect harmony keep, And peace reign in your home. And ere these blessings all are spent,

To heaven raise your eyes, Thank God for all the good He's sent, Be upright, pure and wise.

-Ninggie E. Dain, Manchester, Iowa. THE PLIGHT OF WILD DUCKS. PRIESDS OF THE C. C.: John James inquires why

wild ducks always take a "V" shape in their migratory flights. They do not always do so. I have seen them fly in a straight line. I will give three reasons for either the "V" or straight-line course. A ginnee shows each bird any weakness or accident to any of the flock. 2. They know that they can fly easier in still air-or, if windy, in a steady wind-than in air that is set in commotion by the wings of those ahead; so each one takes an unimpeded course. Like the C. C., ducks like pleasant company, so in keeping near each other they must of accessity assume cuber line or "V" shape. 3. Experience has shown them that two ounces of duck-shot is not as fatal with intervals between each bird as when they are huddled in mass. There is, probably, no doubt that the first General whosents skirmish-line ahead of his army got his points mainly from observing the sagacity of these same birds in keeping regular intervals in their advance.—"Nettle," Springfield, Mass.

CLUB WHISPERS. I am opposed to dancing, because it is generally carried to excess. What is meant for recreation ends in toll and fatigue. So far as gracefulness is concerned, I must say that the girls among my acquaintance who do not dance are more graceful an those who do. For my own part, I can make ter use of my time than to dance it away .- H. M. McCall, Cole Camp, Mo.

I advise a marriage for love, while some people say you should marry for money. Will wealth of itself make you happy? How can it be possible? These lines of mine suggest a wedding, girls. The foregoing 35 words have a double meaning. Who will be the first to find the answer? If properly read it will surprise some of our fairiced, bright-eyed C. C. girls,-Captain, Camp 20,

S. of V., Concord, Ill.
John James, of Baltimore, Md., soars so high in his flight with the English language, with all its grammatical and "amphibious" attachments, that e seems to overlook the more commonplace affairs of this mundane sphere, and asks, "Why do wild ducks take the V-shaped course in their migratory flight?" Wild geese do, but ducks do not. John, surely, is no "goose" himself, or else he would not ask the question. But, perhaps, he wishes to find out how many "geese" there are in the C. C.—Anson Wake, Aurora, Ind.

I am the son of the Chaplain of the 15th Ill., and wish to join the C. C. May I? I enjoy reading

THE TRIBUNE very much indeed. It contains so much valuable matter that cannot be found in our United States histories. I find it lots of help to me in my history class. The "Boy Spy in Dixie" is especially interesting. I would like to correspond with sons and daughters of the members of the 15th H.-E. Ellis Rogers, Wausau, Wis. I enjoy reading the letters of the C. C., and think we obtain much knowledge from them; and be-sides, there is a friendship formed among us even if we never should see each other, for we know our fathers fought together for the benefit of our country. How proud we should feel of such noble he-I think we should all be "true blues."-Kittie Horn (17), Angola, Ind.

I would suggest that Miss Lulie read E. P. Roe's works. They are considered instructive as well as entertaining. I have just finished reading them, and like them very much. Let her read "Nature's Serial Stories" and give me her opinion. I would say to "Clod Cuffer" to try and overcome his parents' objections if he wishes to dance; and if he Mrs. D. P. Oilie M. Laffin, of East Lynn, Ill., has introduced a timely and interesting subject. Is it not better to learn one thing well? Yes; since in so doing we may become experis and specialists in that line of business. To the bottom of every detail we can go, making improvements or discoveries. From our patrons we may receive credit for our skill and praise for knowing more about the details of our work than the "jack-of-all-trades," Under such onditious we would seldom fail in business. Having learned all about our occupation, we would have some spare time for other duties, improve-ments and social pleasures. Lastly, if we are where our technical skill is in demand, we can seure employment at remunerative wages, and thus gain a livelihood.—H. E. Martin, Matherion, Mich. Our friend John James is quite right in his high estimation of Webster's Dictionary as an educator, There is nothing better for those who desire to improve their knowledge of United States English; though it will be observed that the great lexico grapher, unlike John James, generally makes use of the shortest word that will serve to convey his meaning, from which it would appear that Webster had, like most philologists, a preference for the terse and vigorous Saxon parts of speech rather than for words of Latin origin, where either would answer his purpose. Study him, therefore, "Tennessee Boy," and let us know if anywhere between the covers of his ponderous tome—"from preface to finis inclusive"—you find any authority for talking about "amphibious" doctrines, or "bybrid" expressions,—Frances Wilson, South

Some Practical Suggestions for Our Agricultural Readers.

THE AMERICAN VARIETIES. The Ohio Poultry Journal says: "Fowls of American origin have a peculiarity about them in spite of the fact that much of the blood in their voins comes from foreign stock. Take, for instance, the Plymouth Rock. No generalpurpose fowl that could compare with them existed before their introduction. Here we have a clean-cut business bird, no nonsense or superfluous "flub-dubs" about him. He hasn't got a "top-knot," or whiskers, or five toes, and he doesn't need them. He has got the proper shape, smooth legs, richly-tinted skin and sweet meat that form the Yankee's ideal table fowl. The same may be said of the Wyandottes. They were made by Americans, for Americans, because there was a demand for such a fowl, and in this country when a demand exists an untiring and usually successful effort is made to fill it. American breeds are the hardiest in our climate, unless killed by in-breeding. They stand extreme hot weather better than Asiatics, and extreme cold better than nonsitters. They are completely acclimated, and under equal care will succeed better than any other for general all-around use where a fowl for both meat and eggs is desired. FEEDING SHEEP.

It is an easy rule for feeding sheep, to feed what they will eat. We have numerous inquiries, in consequence of the shortness of feed, as to what to feed sheep. When there is plenty of everything, it is well to discuss the question of proper feeding. When feed is short, about all that can be done is to lay down the simple rule that we have stated. In fact, that rule is not to be altogether disregarded at any time. There may be, and is, a choice of foods among those that sheep will eat with a relish, but it is a mistake to feed what they do not relish. Nature guides the animal in such matters with a considerable degree of certainty. The fact that all animals need a change in food should be fully recognized, though some erroneously claim that sheep do not. Any animal will tire of a food that is fed exclusively for months, and when in that condition they will not do as well as they ought to .- Western Rural.

PLOWING FROZEN GROUND. Sometimes land may be profitably plowed in Winter when slightly frozen. A thin slice of frozen earth is no serious obstruction to the plow with a good cutter in advance, nor is it any injury when turned to the bottom of the furrow. Rather curiously, it makes the land warmer and dryer early in Spring than it would otherwise be. The explanation of this singular fact is that the frozen earth holds the furrow up and prevents it from becoming as compact as it otherwise would fall, especially if wet. While the frozen slice at the bottom thaws by internal heat of the soil beneath it, the furrow above it meanwhile freezes, thus insuring not only disintegration of soil to that depth, but a looseness of texture that admits the warm air in Spring when the furrow thaws out. A heavy sod plewed when there is a very thin slice of frozen soil among the grass roots makes a particularly mellow seed-bed in Spring. The frost works it down about as well as working on it half the Summer could do.

An Oblivary Notice,

[Boston Saturday Evening Gazette.] The elegiac poetry of the country newspaper has long been celebrated for its absurdity, but certain suburban sheets are certainly, in this regard, not far behind their rural exchanges. Not 10 miles from the gilded dome, for instance, appeared in the obituary notices the following

With aching heart We did our darling part, But the heavenly sphere Now enjoys our dear." The second line suggests dissection, but is probably only a violent case of elipsis.

Might as Well Die on That as Anything Else. When one has suffered on, month after month. consulted all the best "Medicine Men" within reach, tried all the remedies suggested by sympathizing friends, still suffers on, becoming weaker and more wretched, it is little wonder that such an one becomes despondent and cries out, "I might as well die on one thing as an-

Compound Oxygen." Mr. Alonzo Clark, chief salesman in the large business house of Davis, Collamore & Co., of New York, was so greatly reduced by long-continued lung trouble, proceeding from malaria, that the doctors gave him up. They said, "if you have any business affairs to arrange, you had better arrange them soon, for you cannot live long." He had all the symptoms of advanced consumption. By this time he thought the doctors had done all they could do for him. which they verily had, at the rate of ten dollars a visit. Somebody dropped a hint in his ear about Compound Oxygen, and he thought he might as well die on that as anything else. But on taking it for a little while, he found he was not going to die. To make a long story short, Mr. Clark is again at his post in the store on Broadway, and attending to business with his old-time regularity. He is, as might be expected from his experience, a firm believer in

Compound Oxygen. This Compound Oxygen has a history embodied in a very interesting two-hundred page treatise, which is sent by mail on application to Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1529 Arch street, Philadelphia,

The following words, in praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a remedy for those delicate diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women, must be of interest to every sufferer from such maladies. They are fair samples of the spontaneous expressions with which thousands give utterance to their sense of gratitude for the inestimable boon of health which has been restored to them by the use of this world-famed remedy.

Rev. Sidney C. Davis, Pestor of First Baptist Church, Berrien Springs, Mich., writes:
"I wish in this letter to express my gratitude for Mrs. Davis and myself for the great good which has been accomplished in her case by the use of your proprietary medicines. When she began to take them she could not endure the least jar, could walk but a very few steps at a time, and could only sit up about thirty minutes at a time. When we look back to the 'dark age' of our married life, when disappointment and discouragement hovered like a cloud of thick darkness about our home, we rejoice together and thank God that in your treatment was found the power to dispel darkness by bringing back health and joy. Mrs. Davis is now strong and vigorous. We have a daughter fourteen months old who, as yet, has known no sickness. Those who visit us from our old field of labor and were acquisited with Mrs. Davis condition old field of labor, and were acquainted with Mrs. Davis' condition while there, express the greatest surprise to see how thorough is her recovery. It has now been nearly two years since Mrs. Davis ceased taking the medicine. When we consider that she had kept her bed the greater part of the time for fourteen months, and would lose repeatedly the advance she had made, her cure seems miraculous. We had almost lost confidence in medical practitioners and advertised remedies, but have found in your Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Pellets the remedies needed."

JOHN B. SEGAR, of Millenbeck, Va., writes:
"My wife had been suffering for two or three years with female weakness, and had paid out one hundred dollars to physicians good than all the medicine given to her by the physicians during the three years they had been practicing upon her."

Female Weakness.—REBECCA HICKS, of Jeraldstown, Greene Co., Tenn., says: "Three years ago you advised me to use your 'Favorite Prescription' for female weakness, which I did according to directions, and it cured me of the disease. Other doctors had failed to do me any good. I have not had a symptom of the disease since."

WONDERS.

Mrs. May Gleason, of Nunica, Ottawa Co.

has worked wonders in my case."

Again she writes: "Having taken several bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' I have regained my health wonderfully, to the astonishment of myself and friends. I can now be on my feet all day.

Mrs. Sophia F. Boswell, White Cottage, O. writes: "I took eleven bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' and one bottle of your 'Pellets.' I am doing my work, and have been for some time. ## TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here or there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their easy-going and indifferent or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he prescribes his pills and potions, assuming them to be such, when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some womb disorder. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages his practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine, like Dr. Piercu's FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery.

3 PHYSICIANS Mrs. E. F. Mongan, of No. 71 Lexington St., East Boston, Mass., says: "Five years ago I was a dreadful sufferer from uterine troubles. Having exhausted the skill of three physicians, I was completely discouraged, and so weak I could with difficulty cross the room using the local treatment recommended in his 'Common Sense Medical Adviser.' I commenced to improve at once. In three months I was perfectly cured, and have had no trouble since. I wrote a letter to my family paper, briefly mentioning how my health had been restored, and offering to send the full particulars to any one writing me for them, and enclosing a stamped-envelope for reply. I have received over four hundred letters. In reply, I bave described my case and the treatment used, and have earnestly advised them to 'do likewise.' From a great many I have received second letters of thanks, stating that they had com-menced the use of 'Favorite Prescription,' had sent the $1.50 required for the 'Medical Adviser,' and had applied the local treatment so fully and plainly laid down therein, and were much Endispensable.-John L. Burkin, of Vossburg, Miss., says: "We have been using your medicines for many years in our family, and they have given wonderful satisfaction. My wife thinks they have not an equal; especially does she regard your "Favorite Prescription" as indispensable."

JEALOUS of Crystal, Mich., writes: "I was troubled with female weakness, leucorrhes and falling of the womb for seven years, so I had to keep my bed for a good part of the time. I doctored with an army of different physicians, and spent large sums of money, but received no lasting benefit. At last my husband persuaded me to try your medicines, which I was loath to do, because I was prejudiced against them, and the doctors said they would do me no good. I finally told my husband that if he would get some of your medicines, I would try them against the advice of my physician. He got me aix bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' also six bottles of the 'Discovery' the 'Favorite Prescription,' also six bottles of the 'Discovery,' for ten dollars. I took three bottles of 'Discovery' and four of 'Favorite Prescription,' and I have been a sound woman for four years. I then gave the balance of the medicine to my sister, who was troubled in the same way, and she cured herself in a short time. I have not had to take any medicine now for almost four years." Retroverted Womb .- Mrs. Eva Kohler, of Crab Orchard, Neb., writes: "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done me a great deal of good. I suffered from retroversion of the uterus, for which I took two bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and I am now feeling like a different woman.

I also had womb complaint so bad that I could not walk two blocks without the most severe pain, but before I had taken your 'Favorite Prescription' two months, I could walk all over the city without inconvenience. All my troubles seem to be leaving me under the benign influence of your medicine, and I now feel smarter than for years before. My physicians told me that I could not be cured, and therefore you will please accept my everlasting thanks for what you have dense for me, and may God bless you in your good works."

Later, she writes: "It is now four years since I took your 'Favorite Prescription,' and I have had no return of the female trouble I had then." trouble I had then. Well as I Ever Was .- Mrs. John Stewart, of Chippens Falls, Wis., writes: "I wish to inform you that I am as well as I ever was, for which I thank your medicines. I took four bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription' and one bottle of your 'Discovery' and four bottles of the 'Pellets.' All of the bad symptoms have disappeared. I do all my own work; am able to be on my feet all day. My friends tell me I never looked so well."

Mrs. A. M. RATCLIFF, of McCune, Crawford Co., Kansas, writes: "I have received great benefit from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Pre-scription and Pellets. You cannot know how grateful I am to you."
